

Concert at Llansantffraed Church A40 Talybont-on-Usk turning
Saturday 19 May 2018 - 7.30pm

His lute, his fancy, and his flights

Music and poetry from the world of Henry Vaughan

with Emma Kirkby and the Dowland Works Group

This unique programme will bring lute music, song and poetry together in a subtle and revealing way for all to enjoy. From simple solos to delicate duets and colourful four-part airs by John Dowland, Thomas Campion and their renaissance contemporaries, the group will read and perform in the informal style of the time. Llansantffraed is the spiritual home of the famous 17th century poet Henry Vaughan who took inspiration from the religious, secular and natural worlds. The concert and narrative will bring Vaughan's world back to life with music and poetry in his beloved Usk Valley in Breconshire.

Tickets £14 - includes programme and interval snacks & refreshments

£4 - students and children from Mervyn Bramley 01874-665257 e: mervyn.bramley@icloud.com or Sandra Briskham 01874-676297 e: sandra.briskham@btinternet.com

Manuscript by John Dowland
- English Renaissance
composer and lutenist

Dame Emma Kirkby
- Renowned soprano and Early English music specialist

Organised by the Brecknock Society & the Friends of Llansantffraed Church

Supported by Tŷ CERDD promoting the music of Wales